

#PROTEST

From the summer of 1940, the Germans introduce more anti-Jewish measures. The Jews, for instance, have to wear the Star of David visibly on their clothes. They are not allowed to own a radio any longer, their children can only attend Jewish schools, they are no longer allowed to visit restaurants, hotels, cinemas, the beach, the park, and in many places the sign 'Prohibited for Jews' appears. Jews are not allowed to travel either. Roosje, however, decides not to adhere to any of these measures. She does not wear the Star of David. On the contrary: she drinks tea in outdoor cafes with a large sign 'Prohibited for Jews.' She writes: "This is always makes me chuckle. Sometimes I even ask someone to take my picture with my camera, with the sign in the background. It is even better when there is a German in the outdoor cafe".

WHAT DO YOU DO: DO YOU ACCEPT THE RULES THAT ISOLATE YOU FROM SOCIETY MORE AND MORE, OR DO YOU IGNORE THEM EVEN IF THIS COULD CAUSE HUGE PROBLEMS FOR YOU?
